Press Work on Giant Edition About Done

Weary Telegraph Crews Sight End Of Monstrous Job

It's almost finished!

Grimy pressroom employes early this morning neared the final section of the history-making Dixon Evening Telegraph Centennial edition to be issued May 1.

It was an exhausting week for them and the composing and editorial department employes who have stepped up the tempo to an almost a round-the-clock degree.

* * *

IT HAS BEEN determined now that the newspaper to be issued next Tuesday will consist of 272 pages, two more than the original estimate made some weeks ago. It will be one of the largest ever produced in the United States. It is believed to be THE largest ever published by a newspaper the size of The Evening Telegraph.

* * *

WEARY EDITORIAL and composing room personnel yesterday turned its full attention to the Tuesday section. It will be one of 20 pages, devoted almost entirely to feature articles about the edition itself, congratulatory messages which have been pouring in from all over the nation, and, of course, the current day's news.

* * *

AS THE EDITION rolled off the presses this week, the editors and compositors scanned the press proofs for errors that may have been overlooked in the earlier, thorough proof reading. One obvious error in the identification of a picture resulted in the entire page being reset. It would be extremely optimistic to believe that all errors had been observed and corrected.

* * *

THE WIND-UP JOB, the agonizing late-hour detail work, was nearing an end. The final section scheduled to go to press today was the cover section, the one which will encase the 15 other Centennial sections. The current day's newspaper will serve as a "cover section."

* * *

NOW WILL COME the mad race to get the edition into the homes on schedule. This morning, enlarged circulation department staffs were brought to the Dixon armory where they were litterally faced with a sea of newspapers. They were the sections which have poured from the presses all week.

* * *

THIS CREW WILL work Saturday and Sunday and possibly Monday assembling the edition and making ready for the Tuesday edition which will go to press several hours earlier than normal.

* * *

A FLEET OF AUTOMOBILES and trucks are ready to speed the edition to the homes throughout the Rock River valley. As each newspaper will weigh four pounds, approximately 16 times the weight of a regular daily newspaper, extra carriers have been mustered for the distribution job. There will be delays but home subscribers to The Telegraph will probably receive their evening newspaper near the scheduled time.

* * *

The job which has taken months of planning and research was nearing an end. Subscribers, we believe, will realize the tremendous undertaking when their "Headlines of a Century" edition is placed at their doorsteps next Tuesday.

Rejoins Wife, Son After 17 Months in Jail

Say's He's Sorry That He Failed 'Under Pressure'

VIENNA — (AP)—The Communist Hungarian government freed American businessman Robert A. Vogeler today. He returned swiftly to Vienna and a tearful but joyous reunion with his wife and two young sons.

Vogeler, 39-year-old vice president of International Telephone and Telegraph company, reached his home in the American sector of Vienna at 1:23 p. m. Austrian time (6:23 a. m. CST).

He was released at the Austro-Hungarian frontier exactly one week after the Hungarian government promised to set him free from the 15-year sentence it imposed on charges of spying. He had served more than 17 months.

He's Happy

"Nobody can be happier than I am," he exclaimed a short time after he crossed into Austria at the border village of Nickelsdorf. He was sped in an American diplomatic car to Vienna where he was met at the gate of his suburban home by his beauteous, blonde wife, Lucille, 34, his son, and his wife's sister, Pia.

Reveals Terms

Simultaneously with his release, the Hungarian government in Budapest announced the price that was paid for Vogeler's freedom:

1. The United States promised to open the Hungarian consulates in New York and Cleveland that were closed last year.
2. It will lift the ban on travel by American citizens to Hungary.
3. The Voice of America will stop using the wave length of Radio Munich for its broadcasts.
4. The U. S. government will help to return Hungarian property carried off by the Nazis in 1944 to the now American-occupied zone of Germany.

The terms, which the Hungarian government described last Saturday as "just claims," were not confirmed immediately by American officials.

Tells of Trial

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—The Department of Defense, in response to a question about recurring rumors, said today it has no plan to reopen the Green River Ordnance plant near Dixon, Ill.

Gen. MacArthur Returns to New York to Review Parade

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, after triumphant visits to Chicago and Milwaukee, today will review New York's fourth annual Loyalty Day parade featuring an estimated half-million marchers.

The general will head the huge Fifth avenue procession in an automobile from its starting point (1 p. m. EST) at 95th street to the official reviewing stand at 67th street.

There he will be presented with a medal by Charles C. Ralls, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsors of the parade since 1948 to counteract left-wing May day activities.

Voted In August

The medal for the ousted Far Eastern commander was voted by the VFW at its encampment last August in Chicago. In a statement to the encampment, MacArthur suggested American occupation of Formosa. President Truman then asked the general to withdraw his statement. It was the first open break between MacArthur and the administration.

The pass of paraders will be augmented by elaborate floats, about 40 bands and several dozen nationality groups wearing costumes of their native lands.

In line with the war veterans will be labor, civic, church, patriotic and political delegations.

200 Watch

Last night, about 200 persons watched MacArthur's plane land at International airport after a flight from Milwaukee, his former home, where he was honored with a giant reception yesterday.

Alighting from his plane, the Bataan, the general said:

"It was a wonderful homecoming the folks tendered me in Milwaukee. It warmed the very cockles of my heart."

The Milwaukee celebration followed the huge reception given MacArthur in Chicago on Thursday.

At the airport, the general said he was taking his wife to her hometown of Murfreesboro, Tenn., on Monday. Commenting on the trip to the small southern town, the general glanced at his wife and said, "It also happens to be her birthday."

Daylight Time Begins Sunday In Many Cities

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Daylight time will begin Sunday for at least 500 of the 1,200 Illinois communities.

An incomplete survey by the Illinois Municipal league shows few changes from last year in the number of communities on fast time.

Two of the larger cities shifting to the daylight list are Springfield and Kewanee. In Springfield, voters approved the change by a decisive margin. All state offices in the capital, including the legislature, will run on daylight time.

Among the larger cities where daylight time will go into effect at 2 a. m. Sunday for five months are:

Chicago and its suburbs, Peoria, Rockford, Alton, Belleville, Aurora, Joliet, East St. Louis, Kankakee, Lincoln, Elgin, Danville, Champaign, Bloomington, Urbana, LaSalle, Dixon, Ottawa and Streator.

Quincy, which had daylight time the last two years, has voted to remain on standard this year, in a spring referendum, the standard time supporters won out 7,240 to 6,923.

Other cities remaining on standard time include:

Jacksonville, Rock Island, Moline, Freeport, Galesburg, Canton, Decatur, Mattoon, Centralia, Mt. Vernon, Monmouth and Macomb.

Murray Better

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray is reported in "very good condition" today at Mercy hospital.

Also on the floor are the permanent records of the graduates of the school which were untouched. Hot lunch and activities funds amounting to $174.76 in cash and checks were taken by the "second-story" men.

House Working On New Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The house ways and means committee will begin voting Monday on the 1951 tax increase bill by which the administration once hoped to boost tax revenue by $10,000,000,000.

Most estimates among committee members on the size of the bill they expect to be approved ranged from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000.

Pawpaw School Burglary One of Four in Area

Four burglaries at school buildings in DeKalb and Lee counties Thursday night were apparently the work of the same parties, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff John Stouffer.

In Lee county the burglars escaped with $174.76 after jimmying a safe on the third floor of the Pawpaw school. Just over the Lee county line at the Lee school they took $5 in cash from the school office.

At Waterman school they took $100 and at Shabbona they got $75. At both schools the combination knobs were deftly knocked off the safes. Also a filing cabinet was broken into at Shabbona.

At Pawpaw the intruders made a messy job of it by using a chisel to pry open the safe door. Stouffer said apparently the burglars started at Waterman then went to Shabbona, Lee and Pawpaw. School activities were under way at Pawpaw until 10 p. m. Thursday causing officers to believe the last breakin was there.

At Waterman and Shabbona the burglars jimmied a window to gain entrance. They pried open a rear door at Lee school and broke the window glass from a rear door at the Pawpaw school to get inside. Total loot taken was $354.76.

Only 11 Miles From Seoul in Newest Drive

American Heavy Guns in Capital Thunder Defiance

TOKYO — (AP) — Communist troops today captured Uijonbu on the historic invasion route only 11 miles north of Seoul.

The U. S. Eighth army announced the vital road hub as in enemy hands but gave no details.

Allied forces on the Korean western front began falling back through Uijongbu Friday.

Allied artillery in Seoul fired throughout Saturday at the onrushing Reds.

United Nations forces continued pulling back on central and eastern fronts but reported no contact with the Reds.

Report Reserves

The Red Korean Pyongyang radio said Saturday night that Communits reserves had reached the battlefront. 'The official Communist station usually reports developments at least three days after they take place.

The broadcast heard in Tokyo said "Korean and Chinese People's volunteers are now inflicting heavy damage on the enemy throughout the front. We have this time poured a new reserve force on the battlefield on one of those fronts and it is taking a heavy toll of American lives."

Allied battlefront sources, however, said the withdrawal was in good order.

Casualties 41,500

All along the 100-mile battlefront Allied forces have pulled back into South Korea.

They have killed or wounded more than 41,500 Reds in their fighting withdrawal.

The Reds mounted their biggest offensive on the western front. Some 300,000 troops were driving on Seoul.

Tens of thousands of civilians fled the South Korean capital.

A South Korean flag flew over the big gray city hall in Seoul Saturday, but the building was empty.

Rescue Crest

A British regimental sergeant major directed the removal of the British royal crest from over the door of the British embassy. Thirty American cargo planes landed Friday at Kimpo, big airport northwest of the old capital, with war supplies. The planes carried away Allied military personnel.

Some of the planes returned to their bases in Japan punctured by bullets. There were no reports of casualties.

On the east-central front, Red forces crashed into the United Nations positions before dawn Saturday east of Yanggu, but failed to crack the line.

About 100 North Koreans cut through the no-man's-land section around the abandoned town at the east end of the Hwachon reservoir.

It was the only major action Saturday along that sector.

Mother Kisses Son at Death, Bears Daughter

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — The time was drawing near for Mrs. Tomasa Gonzales, 43. Her 11th child was about to be born.

The telephone rang. A voice said, "This is Georgia street receiving hospital. Your son, David H. Rivera, has been brought here with a heart attack. He was found downtown. You had better come quickly."

A son dying—a child on the way. Mrs. Gonzales made her decision. Friends rushed her to Georgia street. She reached there in time to say goodbye to her son, David, 28.

Sobbing, she rose from beside his deathbed and set off on another journey through the night.

An hour later, in French hospital, Mrs. Gonzales gave birth to a daughter.

Today, mother and child were "doing fine."

Good Weather In Prospect For Weekend

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pleasant weekend appeared in prospect for most of the nation, with mild temperatures and clear skies.

There were showers today in some areas, the weather bureau said, but generally it was fair weather across the country. One shower area extended from Michigan southwestward to eastern Kansas. Light rain fell in the Pacific northwest and Northern California.

The only cool spot today was in the North Atlantic and New England states and the rainy areas of the Pacific Northwest. Temperatures climbed into the 80's in some of the West Central states yesterday. The 85 at Kansas City tied the city's all-time record for the date.

The flood situation along the Mississippi river in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri appeared unchanged, but northeast Missouri remained a danger spot. The level showed little change in Iowa and Illinois but it was rising slowly in Missouri. But engineers said all Missouri levees are expected to hold unless the river goes higher than expected.

Stassen Proposes 'Armistice' Between Mac and President

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republican Leader Harold E. Stassen wrote President Truman today that "for the good of America" there should be "a reconciliation between you and Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

In his letter, Stassen said:

"If the disagreement runs its bitter course to the end, whatever its outcome may be, it can do no good for our country.

"I therefore ask with humility that you consider extending an invitation to Gen. MacArthur to meet and confer with you."

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, told a news conference he delivered the letter to the White House this morning.

He said he did not see the president, nor ask to see him, but gave the letter to Matt Connelly, Truman's secretary.

At the same time, Stassen said, he sent a telegram to MacArthur in New York.

Stassen told MacArthur about his letter to Truman and said he had made it clear that "I had not spoken to you directly or indirectly, but that I was confident from my knowledge of you over a period of years that if such an invitation is extended you will accept."

Stassen also told MacArthur:

"I feel very deeply that for the good of America a reconciliation should be brought about between you and the president."

Senate Crime Committee Report to 'Pull No Punches'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A senate crime committee source said today the group's coming report will "pull no punches." One of the highlights will be the committee's findings on its sensational investigation in New York city.

Members of the committee and its staff, still working feverishly on the report, called another meeting today after sending a sixth draft of the document to government printers late last night.

The report is due for submission to the senate on Monday, and indications are that this will be done despite a desire by some members of the staff to hold it for further revisions.

A section of the report dealing with the committee's New York City probe was said to use some "strong language about William O'Dwyer, former New York mayor who now is ambassador to Mexico.

"It really hits him with the book," said a committee source who was unwilling to be quoted by name. Although the New York section has been rewritten in the latest draft, this source told a reporter that the changes were of a perfecting nature and in no way took out the sting.

There was no evidence of any political division within the committee over the report conclusions reached during the committee's year-long, nation-wide probe of the underworld.

Row Over MacArthur's Views On Far East Policy Stays Warm

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator McFarland (D-Ariz) struck back today at Republican charges that President Truman's policies can lead only to stalemate or "appeasement" in the Korean war.

And Senator Wherry (R-Neb) denounced a Democratic charge that the Republicans have tried to "make political capital" out of President Truman's ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Pacific commander.

McFarland, the senate Democratic leader, assailed assertions by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that President Truman's policies would lead only to a stalemate in Korea and that Secretary of State Acheson is trying to "appease" Red China.

No Appeasement

"Regardless of what we think of the policies involved, nobody has ever advocated either appeasement or stalemate in Korea," McFarland told a reporter.

"We wouldn't be fighting in Korea now if appeasement had been our aim."

Wherry, the Republican floor leader, challenged statements of William M. Boyle, Jr., the Democratic national chairman.

Boyle said in a party leaflet yesterday that there had been "a determined effort by some political leaders, newspapers and radio commentators to becloud the issues" involved in the President's firing of MacArthur.

Would Mean All-Out War

"Some Republican leaders, in the desperate and reckless partisan attacks on the Truman administration have advocated action which would risk involving this nation in all-out war on the continent of Asia," Boyle declared.

He said President Truman "has been calmly and firmly working to assure this nation and the world the best chance of an honorable peace if the rulers of Soviet Russia are willing to accept such a peace."

At Milwaukee, Gen. MacArthur was quoted as saying he would regard an invitation to see President Truman as an order. President Truman has said MacArthur may see him if he asks for an appointment.

Blood and Politics

Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney, personal aide to MacArthur, also said his chief felt the blood of American boys in Korea should be kept out of the political realm.

MacArthur is scheduled to appear before the senate armed services and foreign relations committees next Thursday to testify on his recommendations for blockade of the China coast, air operations over Manchuria and use of the Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa.

Senator Russell (D-Ga), who heads the two committees, said he has had no direct word from MacArthur as to whether he wishes to appear in closed or open session. Russell is for closed meetings. Most Republicans want public sessions.

Sounds New Note

Senator Jenner (R-Ind) pitched a new note into the senate's Far East policy debate yesterday with the observation that MacArthur might have been fired because somebody wanted him out of the way when the Japanese peace treaty is drafted finally.

Jenner said that he scents a plan to give Russia "permanent title" to the strategic Kurile islands, stretching toward Alaska, in the treaty.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told a reporter he thinks that MacArthur's ouster "caused more disturbance in Japan and the Orient than anything that has happened since the last war."

The dog's owner was notified he could pick up his pooch at the Lakewood dog pound.

Youth on Trial for Murder Claims Shooting 'Accident'

EDWARDSVILLE, (AP)—Paul H. Baker, Jr., 17, claims the quartermaster of Western Military Academy at Alton was accidentally shot to death as they grappled for a .45-caliber pistol.

Closing arguments were scheduled for today in the youth's trial in Madison county circuit court on a charge of murdering Maj. Henry E. Suhre, 61, Jan. 23.

Taking the stand in his own defense yesterday, Baker answered questions in a brisk and matter-of-fact manner.

He told the jury he was trying to protect Suhre from injury when he resisted efforts by the quartermaster to take the weapon. He said he wanted to unload it.

"People get hurt with loaded guns," Baker explained under cross examination.

Caught In Store

Suhre caught him in the cadet store where he had stolen some tablets of paper after it had been closed for the night, Baker said, and grabbed for the pistol, saying "You'd beter let me have that."

"Don't, major, it's loaded," the youth said he replied.

Baker said that during the following scuffle Suhre squeezed the youth's trigger finger and the weapon went off. The boy said he stumbled and fell backwards on his elbows, that the gun discharged a second time. The quartermaster was shot through the head and had a second wound in his neck.

Pleaded With Victim

Before the shooting, Baker said, he pleaded with Suhre not to turn him in to school authorities because "I was afraid I'd get kicked out of school."

The youth said he left the cadet store and returned later to wipe away any fingerprints.

Darrell E. Bell, 18, of Carmi, Ill., Baker's roommate, testified that Baker took a hunting knife with him on the return visit and told him he intended to cut a bullet out of Suhre's head. Baker denied this.

Shot "Someone"

He denied, also, that he told Bell he had shot Maj. Suhre, saying he told his roommate that he had shot "someone."

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul H. Baker, the youth's parents, testified earlier. Mrs. Baker said her husband, an army officer stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., gave her the pistol for safekeeping and that she did not know her son had it until the day after the shooting. Young Baker was quoted earlier as saying his father gave him the weapon.

New York delegates were not authorized by their state convention to sign the Declaration of Independence until five days after the historic signing on July 4, 1776.

Urbana Bus Drivers Balk At License

URBANA, (AP)—The president of the AFL bus drivers' union in Champaign-Urbana said last night the union members will not drive in Urbana after May 1 unless a $50 annual drivers' license fee is revoked.

The Urbana city council on April 16 passed an ordinance providing for a $50 license fee for each of the Champaign-Urbana City Lines' 40 some drivers.

T. N. McClaine of Urbana, president of the Danville-Champaign council of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, said the effect of the drivers' action would be a walkout.

If the fee is not revoked "none of us proposes to drive a bus within the city limits of Urbana and make ourselves criminally liable," McClaine said.

He said the action is not directed against the company. He said the money would have to come from each driver's pocket and the amount is "prohibitive."

Big Four Meeting, Deadlocked Though It Is, Serves Purpose

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Big Four deputy foreign ministers (America, Britain, France and Russia) who have been engaged in a dog-fight in Paris ever since March 5, remain deadlocked in their eforts to arrange an agenda for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko from the outset adopted the role of tough guy. He has blocked work of the conference by raucous variations of the charge that the Western powers, mainly America, are to blame for the Korean war.

Moscow wants the United Nations to withdraw from Korea. This would leave the South Koreans alone to face the Russian equipped Red divisions from the north.

Not Surprising

Of course this farcial proceeding in the deputies' conference isn't surprising. It is merely history repeating itself, since obstruction is the fixed strategy of the Russians for all conferences involving the democracies.

As a matter of fact, Britain, France and America had no optimistic delusions as they embarked on the paris conference. Dr. Philip C. Jesup, chief U. S. delegate, on boarding a plane for Paris summed the position up like this:

"We want to be shown. Past experience does not make us very hopeful."

Why Confer?

Since Soviet obstruction represents a chronic condition, the question naturally arises why the great powers persist in staging international conferences involving the Reds and the Democracies. What is to be gained?

Well, the fact is that most countries, and especially the small ones, want the way kept open to that peace of which we dream but never seem to approach. The idea is that so long as the great powers are talking they won't act.

There has been a lot of discussion at one time or another about disbanding the harrassed United Nations. This would eliminate the obstructive Communist bloc. However, the decision always has been not to take such drastic action, on the ground that the Russians some day might change their ways.

Purpose Is Peace

Those who advocate caution point out that the main purpose of the United Nations is to keep the peace, and that the organization would become impoten tif one major party were absent. That is an argument hard to answer.

In the case of the current Paris conference, this was advocated by Moscow and the Western powers had to acept or be charged with obstruction. Such an acceptance keeps the door open for the time when the Reds may really be ready to do business.

As a matter of fact, many observers hold that the Russians aren't prepared to break with the Western powers. These observers figure that the Soviet Union isn't ready for war yet, and that if she pulled out of the U. N., the rest of the world would think this meant war and would rush to arms.

Nobel Prize Winner Opposes Spread of War

PALO ALTO, Calif.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations diplomat and Nobel prize winner, opposes any action to spread the Korean war—such as bombing Manchuria, as proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

In a news conference the famed negro diplomat said an attack on China would mean spreading the conflict to all Asia and thence to Europe, but that by confining the war to Korea, the UN has a chance for negotoating a satisfactory and honorable peace without appeasement.

Dixon Fire Chief Urges Store Clean Up to Help Stop Fires

Safe Construction Essential To Reduce Home Accidents

Since 32,000 persons are killed accidentally in American homes each year, 130,000 permanently injured and 4,750,000 are maimed or disabled, safety for all members of the family is of first importance in construction of every home and should receive even more attention than comfort and convenience, says the Construction Research bureau national clearing house for building information.

Approximately half of the accidental home deaths are caused by falls, principally on stairs. For that reason, every stairway with more than two steps should be equipped with a firm, easy-to-grasp handrail, the steps should be no steeper than 30 degrees and all stairs inside and out, should be uniform with risers 7½ inches high and 10 inches wide. A small light shining on the top and bottom steps also will help eliminate falls.

Overhead Obstructions

If it is impossible to place overhead pipes and ducts high enough to be above the head of the tallest member of the family, these obstructions should be painted white for high visibility.

Loose boards and bricks and broken sidewalks constitute other accident hazards common to homes and these should be repaired immediately upon discovery.

Walls should be fire-stopped to prevent spread of flames through their hollow spaces.

A vision panel in the swinging door between kitchen and dining room will serve to prevent collisions and resulting injury.

Bathroom Safety

Flat-bottom bathtubs with a firm handrail in easy reach will eliminate still more home accident. Electrical switches and outlets should be placed so they cannot be touched by a person using water or while in contact with ground objects such as water pipes and radiators.

Kitchen cabinets and counters with rounded corners will eliminate the hazard of injury caused by sharp projections. Sliding doors on wall cabinets end the danger of bumping into swinging doors that are carelessly left standing open. If the sliding door arrangement is impractical, two narrow swinging doors are recommended instead of a single excessively wide door.

The door between basement and living quarters should be fireproof and of the self-closing type so that it remains closed at all times. An outside exit from the basement is not only convenient, but provides an additional means of escape in case of fire.

—The Evening Telegraph marks 100 years of service to Dixon area residents with its special 270-page Centennial edition on May 1. The Dixon story will be told on four pounds of newsprint in this giant edition.

The National Geographic Society says almost every nation grows some wool.

Question Box

Q—How should I go about removing the paint from an old chest?

A—A hand scraper and sandpaper can be used, but care must be taken not to let the corner of the scraper gouge into the wood.

Q—I plan to re-roof my home and have been told by my roofer that the new roofing material can be laid over the present roof. Is this practice recommended.

A—Yes, there are definite advantages to laying a new material, such as fire resistant asphalt shingles, over your present roof. First, you gain the rigidity and added insulation value of a double roof. You also save the cost of removing the old roof and are spared considerable dirt both inside and outside the house. The old roof should be prepared for the new covering by nailing down loose shingles and replacing any that are missing. When laying asphalt shingles over an old wood shingle roof, nail feathering strips—slightly beveled strips of wood—along the butts of the old shingles to provide a smooth, even surface.

Q—I would like to know how to repair a kitchen chair which has become loose at the joints.

A—The best method is to take the chair apart and clean out all quality liquid glue, household cement or liquid solder when the chair is reassembled. Both parts the old glue. Then use a good of a joint should be coated.

Did You Know

Q—The gauge on my oil tank doesn't always agree with what the oilman says he has put into the tank. How can I tell if the gauge is right?—J.A.

A—The gauges on home oil tanks usually are only approximate. Meters on tank trucks are tested and sealed by town or county authorities and must be accurate. You can measure the depth of oil with a yardstick or weighted string and compare the figure with a chart for various size tanks, which your oilman will furnish. Or you can have a whistle valve installed at the fill pipe. This will allow the delivery man to fill your tank without going inside to check the contents.

Plan Would Lessen Danger To Buildings

Should Look Around Before Locking Up

A fire safety check-up for a store is as important as a periodic physical examination for an individual, Fire Chief Jake Johnson said today in urging business men to join in the city-wide observation of spring clean-up week, which will begin Monday.

"Trouble spots in a store are easy to discover, and some serious fire hazards can be corrected in a few minutes time," he said. "Those few minutes invested in safety can often save a business from bankruptcy."

Flores to Check

The Fire Chief offered local merchants this eight-point program for a fire-safety inspection:

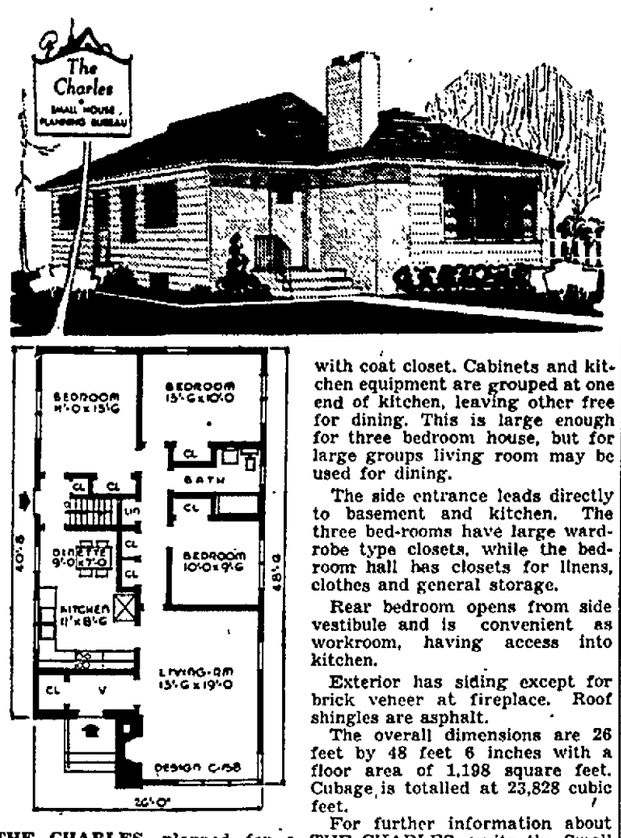
1. Clean out the basement to get rid of combustible rubbish.
2. Use covered metal bins for rags and packing materials.
3. Store flammable liquids in bulk in metal cabinets, fire-resistive rooms, or outside the building.
4. Get an experienced electrician to do your wiring, and have him check wiring periodically.
5. Replace worn extension cords.
6. Have your heating system inspected by an experienced repairman.
7. Work out a "safe smoking" plan with your employees to prevent needless fires. Set aside a definite safe smoking area, or specify smoking periods.
8. Inspect your shop or store carefully before leaving for the day. Many serious fires break out when the store is closed.

Sound Deadening

Rooms can be sound-deadened inexpensively by using acoustic plaster instead of the conventional type.

—A panorama of Dixon area history will be presented to Evening Telegraph readers on May 1 when the 270-page Centennial edition is distributed. It will be the biggest single edition of a newspaper ever published in the midwest.

Rats settled in America from both the Atlantic and Pacific shores.



THE CHARLES, planned for a narrow lot, is only 26 feet wide. Front entrance leads into vestibule with coat closet. Cabinets and kitchen equipment are grouped at one end of kitchen, leaving other free for dining. This is large enough for three bedroom house, but for large groups living room may be used for dining.

The side entrance leads directly to basement and kitchen. The three bed-rooms have large wardrobe type closets, while the bedroom hall has closets for linens, clothes and general storage.

Rear bedroom opens from side vestibule and is convenient as workroom, having access into kitchen.

Exterior has siding except for brick veneer at fireplace. Roof shingles are asphalt.

The overall dimensions are 26 feet by 48 feet 6 inches with a floor area of 1,198 square feet. Cubage is totalled at 23,828 cubic feet.

For further information about THE CHARLES, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

House Kept in Good Repair Steadily Increases in Value

In today's inflated economy a house no longer depreciates in value; instead, its worth increases provided it is kept in good repair.

It is doubtful if there is a single home in the nation that does not require some sort of repair or refurnishing every spring. Shingles, siding and eaves troughs become loosened by winter storms, mortar cracks, basement walls may admit water, paint is dingy or even peeling off, and other flaws may have developed. None of these is serious if given prompt attention.

Inspect Roof From Above

One of the spots most likely to need attention each spring is the roof. It should be inspected carefully from above and every foot of it gone over in search of defective shingles. Unless damage is extensive, the average homeowner can make needed roof repairs himself.

Loose shingles should be firmly re-nailed. Curled, broken or missing shingles should be replaced by slipping new ones beneath those in the course above and fastening each one down with at least two nails. While on the roof, make sure all eave troughs and downspouts are cleaned out and firmly fastened.

Clapboards most often pull loose at corners, but the entire exterior wall surface should be inspected. Loose nails should be pulled out and the siding re-nailed in a new spot. Be sure that all window casings and trim boards are fastened tightly and inspect sills for evidences of rotting.

Replace Loose Mortar

Scratching with a dull knife will reveal whether mortar joints are sound. Where loose or crumbling mortar is discovered, the joint should be thoroughly cleaned and new mortar pushed in as far as possible. Ready-mixed mortar that needs only the addition of water can be obtained at any hardware store.

Where painting is needed, it should be delayed until after the spring rains. Paint applied to a damp surface will peel within a year.

Small leaks in basement walls usually can be eliminated by painting the interior with waterproofing compound.

—Two hundred and seventy pages of words and pictures will tell the Dixon story in The Evening Telegraph's giant Centennial edition to be published May 1. It will rank as the largest single edition ever published in the middlewest and will be free to Telegraph subscribers.

Make Duck Boards to Protect Sun Deck for Summer Use

Sun decks are getting to be pretty standard equipment on today's houses, what with flat roofs on garages or over porches.

Since they aren't designed merely for ornamentation, you might as well figure how to get your money's worth out of them; they're fine for sunbathing, airing junior in his carriage, or as a place to get a breath of air on a hot night when the bugs aren't too thick.

This is a good time to get your roof deck in shape, before the summer doldrums set in. And even if you're not going to use it for basking, it's a good idea to look it over for any signs of winter damage.

Roof decks are covered usually in one of three ways—canvas, heavy tarpaper, or tar and gravel. None of them is built for heavy use, but we'll get to that in a minute; first let's make sure they're in good shape.

If it's canvas deck and there are torn spots, force white lead under the torn edges and nail them down with copper tacks, close together. Then smear on some more lead, smooth it with a light sandpapering, and brush on a couple of coats of lead-and-oil paint. If the torn spots are large, use a canvas patch treated the same way and tacked all around.

Patch With Care

For tarpaper, the procedure's the same except you'll use tarpaper and asphalt roofing compound or roofing tar in place of the white lead. On tar and gravel roofs, apply new tar and grave to worn spots.

When you've finished one of these appropriate chores, you'll have a sound rof. But not sound enough to stand the traffic of carriages, deck chairs, chaise longes and ladies in high-heeled shoes.

What you need now is a removable grating. For some reason, the technical name for this is a duck board, but even though ducks may not come within miles of your roof, it's a fine thing to have.

Make It Yourself

You can make it yourself with strips of lumber three inches wide and about three-eighths to half an inch thick and spaced about half an inch apart. Nail these to two-by-twos, spaced at about two-and-a-half-foot intervals.

After you've figured out how much lumber you'll need for the whole deck, divide your plan into sections small enough to be carried by one person, then build the grating in sectional fashion. You'll want to take it up and store it during the winter to keep leaves and ice and snow from accumulating underneath.

Check Zoning

Zoning restrictions often prevent additions to a house; hence local zoning laws should be checked before buying a home.

The Sino-Japanese war was in 1894 and 1895.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let it not be imagined that the life of a good Christian must necessarily be a life of melancholy and gloominess; for he only resigns some pleasures, to enjoy others infinitely greater.—Pascal.

* * *

Let's Clean Up!

With the Dixon Flower Show coming soon attention has been called by interested citizens in the deplorable condition of some areas where unsightly collections of the winter's refuse mar the natural beauty of the city.

All public agencies and citizens themselves should take an immediate interest in this problem and do whatever is possible to do away with the bottles and cans and rags and refuse that are lying about in many places.

Pork Chops Per Hour

Several years ago an economic bulletin published by a leading bank made this observation: "The record of American meat packing in mass production, maintenance of quality standards, recovery of by-products and low cost to the public is probably unexcelled in any society whether capitalist, socialist or communist."

That is worth remembering at this time, in the light of all the consumer complaint against high meat prices. It seems to be very generally believed that the cost of meat, as increased by consumer income, is out of all reason. Yet, according to bureau of labor statistics, an hour of labor by the average worker buys substantially more meat than it used to. In 1900, for instance, it bought 1⅓ pounds of pork chops. In 1925 it bought 1½ pounds. And late in 1950 it bought a trifle more than two pounds. The price of those chops are much higher than in past times, as everyone knows—but the earning power of the worker has gone up still more.

The meat packing industry has been accused of earning exhorbitant profits, by people who are unaware of the actual facts. The truth is that the profit made by the packers actually averages only a fraction of a cent a pound on all the meat sold at retail. It is commonplace for packers to sell, at wholesale, the dressed meat obtained from a steer for less than was paid for the steer on the hoof. The difference is made up by the careful salvage and utilization of by-products—hides, hair and so on—which go into a lengthy list of non-edible commodities.

No one discounts the perils of inflation, nor the seriousness of the present price situation. But it is a manifest injustice to accuse any enterprise of economic crime and misdemeanors which it has not committed.

A Good Choice

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan appears to have made a sound choice in picking Blair Moody, Washington correspondent for the Detroit News, as successor to the late Senator Vandenberg.

Moody is without political experience. But as a Washington writer he has had a considerable familiarity with congress for some years. Furthermore, his foreign policy views are understood to be close to those of Vandenberg.

That is entirely fitting. Vandenberg was elected overwhelmingly in 1946. The people of Michigan are entitled to the same kind of representation as he would have given them until his term expired at the end of 1952. All signs suggest Moody will provide it.

No one, however, expects him to really replace the man who at possible cost of his life delayed a critical operation so he could serve his country.

The Doctor Says:

Teach Children How to Avoid Having Accidents

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Some judges require traffic violators in their courts to go through the accident wards of the nearest hospital. It is an experience not easy to forget, and the reckless driver generally becomes a great deal more cautious afterwards. Not long ago I saw a boy with one arm in a sling and badly burned on the face as a result of firecrackers exploding in his pocket.

Automobile accidents and those from fireworks are only a few of the many injuries which help to fill our hospitals and morgues. They seem particularly tragic because they could almost always have been prevented by a little care and thoughtfulness for others.

As was pointed out recently, too, accidents kill more children than any single disease and are actually responsible for one-third as many deaths in children as all diseases combined. Add to this the maimed, both children and grown-up, and we have a problem more important than polio or almost any other disease.

Adults are the ones who have the greatest responsibility not only in avoiding accidents to themselves but in lessening the danger for children. Careful driving of motor vehicles is of course one.

Parents who willingly allow their youngsters to use dangerous firecrackers are "playing with fire." During the first 20 months or so of life, the child is almost completely under the responsibility of the parents and the parents are to blame if the child gets burned, poisoned, or drowned.

Growing youngsters cannot be kept in cotton wool all the time, but neither should they be permitted to do risky things until they show some ability to take care of themselves.

For example, youngsters need to know something about crossing streets safely, about not getting out of the wrong side of cars, and about how to test branches when they climb trees. Certainly many tragic accidents could be avoided by attention to matters of this kind in which parents lead children toward responsibility on their own accounts.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

The difference between proper play at rubber bridge and proper play at tournament bridge is clearly shown in today's hand, taken from Seattle's recent Northwest Regional tournament.

Tom Myers, of Seattle, led the four of spades from the West hand, and Dan Lefebvre won with the ace. Lefebvre returned the eight of spades, declarer put in the nine, and Meyers won with the ten. Declarer was now marked with the king and jack of spades, so Myers sifted to the ten of hearts.

Now declarer had a problem. He could surely win nine tricks by putting up the ace of hearts and knocking out the ace of diamonds. But if he made only nine tricks and all the other declarers made ten tricks by means of a successful heart finesse, his name would be mud, his score would be poor, and his face would be red.

At rubber bridge nothing would matter but the safety of the contract. At tournament bridge, South could not afford to give up the play for an overtrick.

After some painful thought, therefore, declarer finessed the queen of hearts. This lost to the king of hearts, and back came another spade.

That was the end for poor South. He could run five clubs, one spade and two hearts—but he could not develop nine tricks without leading diamonds. The moment he led diamonds, of course, West could take the diamond ace and as many spades as he still had.

CARD SENSE

Q—With neither side vulnerable your partner deals and bids one heart. The next player bids two diamonds. You hold: Spades K-Q-7-4, Hearts A-10-6, Diamonds 6-2, Clubs K-5-32. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. Since your hand is roughly equal to an opening bid, you can afford to carry your partner's opening bid to the game level. You will show heart support at your next turn and allow your partner to choose a game contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

With neither side vulnerable your partner deals and bids one heart. The next player bids two diamonds. You hold: Spades, K-2, Hears K-Q-7-4, Diamonds 6-5-3-2, Clubs A-10-6. What do you do?

RIGHT: Realize that such an answer actually throws cold water on plans. Say that you'd like very much to go.

RUTH MILLETT

If You Can't Pass This Test Your Feminity Is Slipping

It's easy for a modern woman who is pretty sure she could look after herself under all circumstances, knows she could earn her own living, and has her own ideas about everything, to lose a lot of her femininity as the years go by.

To see how feminine you are, ask yourself the following questions. Be honest, now.

Your husband has praised the dinner and retired to the living room to read the evening paper, obviously at peace with the world. You still have the dinner dishes to do. Do you feel happy at his obvious contentment, glad that he can relax after his day's work? Or are you resentful that he is taking it easy, while you are still working?

NEXT QUESTION

Your husband has definite ideas about your clothes, the way you wear your hair, and similar matters. Do you cater to his likes and dislikes, pleased that he cares enough about you to notice such things? Or do you ignore his suggestions and dress to impress the girls in your bridge club, rather than to please your husband?

Your husband comes home from work in a restless, irritable mood? Do you try to get him in a better frame of mind by whatever method you've found in the past usually works, whether it is being gay yourself, or quietly cheerful and matter-of-fact or sympathetic? Or do you let him know you've had a hard day, too, and match his mood, instead of trying to change it?

For your birthday or wedding anniversary your husband buys you an extravagant bit of feminine frippery and hands it over, pleased as punch with his gift. Do you feel loved and happy because he wanted to give you something you would have considered too extravagant to buy for yourself? Or do you think and maybe even say, "Oh, Jim, you shouldn't have spent so much for this when there are so many things I really need"?

If the second answer reflects your feelings in most of these situations, watch out. Your femininity is slipping.

Committee Quiz On Ethics Next On U. S. Hearings

NEW YORK, (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said last night a subcommittee on ethics and morality will look into the ethics of public officials, legislators, and private citizens with government business.

"We intend to pick up where the Kefauver and Fulbright and Hoey committees left off," he said of the committee of which he is a member.

He made the statement on the television program "The March of Time Through the Years."

"We hope to work out standards of propriety and morals which public officials, legislators and private citizens should follow in their dealings with the government," Douglas said.

The Kefauver committee looked into crime, the Fulbright group into the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the Hoey committe into the awarding of government contracts.

Douglas said possible witnesses before the committee would be ex-President Herbert Hoover, Federal Judge Learned Hand, Dr. Reihhold Niebuhr, and Robert Huitchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago.

The committee is expected to start hearings within a few weeks.

Your husband asks you if you would like to go to a movie.

WRONG: In an attempt to be agreeable say, "It doesn't make any difference to me what we do," or "if you'd like to, it is all right with me."

State Department Executive Climbed to New Heights With Senora Evita

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—When Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller, Jr., was in Buenos Aires, he was led a rugged pace by Senora Evita Peron, wife of the Argentine president. She insisted that Secretary Miller inspect the new Poly-clinic hospital now nearing completion. Since elevators weren't running, she made him climb seven flights of stairs—and look into every room. Evita emerged from the ordeal fresh as a daisy. Miller was fagged.

In all, Secretary Miller spent some seven hours with Evita during his visit, though they were never alone. The conversation never lagged. A year ago, Senora Peron had been hostile to the U. S. This time she was cordial, constantly expressed the need of the Argentine for friendliest relations with tihis country. Reason for her change was that she now felt United States policy had changed.

* * * *

Argentine minister of interior recently stated that women could vote, and therefore could hold office. Senora Peron's candidacy for vice presidency, with her husband succeeding himself as president, is looking up. The Argentine constitution says the vice president succeeds to the presidency if president dies or resigns. So Evita might become first woman head of an American republic.

MacArthur Letter Is Insurance to Dulles

John Foster Dulles, special representative of the President in negotiating a peace treaty with Japan, carries in his pocket a letter from General Douglas MacArthur. Text of the letter has just been made public by the State Department. It praises Ambassador Dulles, saying "Under your able presentation you have given Japan a new appreciation of the great moral stature of the United States . . . " It closes with, "Yours has indeed been a high order of universal service."

Ambassador Dulles explains that this letter is a kind of insurance policy. It protects him from attack by the ardent followers of General MacArthur. And if anyone should accuse him of following the Truman-State Department line, Ambassador Dulles can pull out the MacArthur letter and show 'em.

RFC Side of Lustron Story

Worst thing hung on Reconstruction Finance Corporation by Senator Fullbright's investigating committee is, of course, the Lustron loan for $37,500,000. It resulted in a $25,000,000 loss to the government. RFC's alibi on this deal is that it didn't want to make this loan but was forced into it by other government agencies and by congress. First Housing Expediter Tighe Woods gave RFC a directive to make the loan because the government wanted to encourage the pre-fabricated housing industry at the end of the war. Then when RFC delayed the loan, and the authority for such projects was about to expire, congress extended the emergency housing legislation so as to force making of the loan.

Wilson Philosophy on Fights

Defense Mobilizer C. E. Wilson is known to be a tough fighter, but he always minimizes his battles. His reaction to the labor unions' walkout from defense agency jobs was typical. After talking the matter over with President Truman at Key West, Mr. Wilson said he didn't know what the hue and cry, the excitement and shooting, were all about.

Similarly, Mr. Wilson has denied that there was ever any argument between him and Price Stabilization Director Michael V. DiSalle and denied that he pulled the rug out from under DiSalle in canceling the original wage freeze order. Mr. Wilson likewise has denied that there was ever any row between him and Ferdinand Eberstadt, during the last war, when War Production Board was split. "We had a one or two minute argument," Mr. Wilson once explained. "Why he got out had nothing to do with Wilson."

Mr. Wilson can't understand Washington's interest—particularly by the press and radio—in official fights over policy. His philosophy has been expressed as, "Of course some people are going to object to what you do. So what? So you find out what's the right thing to do. Then you go ahead and do it."

* * * *

Could Be Docked in Case of Trouble

One of the biggest drawbacks to making an effective anti-Communist Pacific pact is that left wing labor unions control nearly all the Pacific ports. This is true not only on west coast of U. S., but in Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Philippines and southeast Asia mainland ports. Australia had a number of maritime strikes in the past year. One attempted to block shipment of supplies to Australian troops in Korea. In case of war, similar dock and shipping strikes might tie up all movement of freight in vital areas.

Incidentally, Dr. Herbert Vare Evatt, former Australian foreign minister and present Labour Party minority leader, is now said to be playing awfully close to the Commie line. Some of his recent utterances have been considered strongly anti-American.

* * * *

Frantic Labor Antics Fizzle

Much of the fuss stirred up by union labor leaders in objecting to governmenet manpower policies is now shown to have been a completely phony issue. Naming of Dr. Arthur S. Flemming as manpower assistant to Defense Mobilizer C. E. Wilson makes no change in government's previous plans. Department of Labor will still run the show. Ex-Sen. Frank P. Graham will be Defense Manpower administrator, working in Department of Labor. The department's labor-management advisory committees will still be used and extended to state and local levels. Union labor people will be on these committees all along the line, if they want to participate. If they don't, it's their hard luck. For no union labor organization can go it alone for long without government support. They'll have to come in on the act as soon as some way can be found for them to save face.

* * * *

Boys Are Outdoing Each Other

One of the real, behind-the-scenes causes of great blow-off steam by union labor leaders today is intense rivalry for jobs as successors to President William Green of AFL and Philip Murray of CIO. Mr. Murray's health has not been good. Walter Reuther of the Auto Workers and Jim Carey of the new CIO Electrical Workers' Union are now in the lead to succeed Mr. Murray if he steps aside. Mr. Green's retirement has long been planned, but he has been held on because agreement could not be reached on who might succeed him. Secretary-Treasurer George Meany now seems to have the edge.

GARDEN NOTES

If you desire green onions for a longer period from your onion sets, place them very close together. However if you are interested in getting dry bulb onions place those onion sets about three inches apart. The onions grown from seed will keep better over winter.

Did you know that one should plant about three feet of a row of lettuce per person; be sure to make a second sowing 10 to 14 days later in order to have new and more succulent growth on into the summer.

In buying plants as tomatoes, cabbage, pepper, etc., look for good shades of green; avoid any plants that have strong yellowing and reddening. Make sure that living leaves are free of spots and dead areas and that stems are firm and not woody.

Roots of such plants should be one-third as long as the tops in order to be in good proportion. Avoid all extremely large, extremely small or spindly plants. For instance, the tomato plants that look like palm trees are really worthless.

All plants transferred to your garden will suffer from transplanting shock. Try to reduce it as much as possible by getting plants in god condition and not letting them wilt. Transplant in the evening; use plenty of water, often a pint is poured in to the small hole which is made by using a trowel. Allow the water to soak in; then set the plant into this hole, setting it reasonably deep, but do not bury. To finish off firm the soil around the plant.

Tender vegetables as tomatoes, egg plant and pepper shoulnt be planted too early or they will be permanently damaged. In Northern Illinois it is best to put out such tender vegetables about May 15. You may plant tomato seed now if you wish.

Fine Needle, Long Stitch for Nylon

Nylon fabrics are easy to sew. Fine thread and needles, plus loose stitches and loose tensions, will give long wearing, unpuckered seams.

It is recommended that nylon thread be used when sewing nylon fabrics. Although different kinds of thread can be used, the nylon is more durable, quick drying and shrink-proof.

Small, sharp pins and fine needles penetrate tough nylon easily and give better results in basting.

Long machine stitches—as few as seven to the inch—and a loose tension usually result in better seams. Nylon's strength allows the large stitch to be used.

It is important to test the stitching on all nylon fabrics before starting permanent seams. Test on the straight of a doubled piece of material, lengthening the stitches and adjusting the tensions until well-informed but loose stitches are made.

Using ordinary shelf paper or tissue under the material often gives smoother seams when sewing sheer and tightly woven nylon fabrics.

Care Needed With Plastics

The next time you sew plastic materials, remember that you may need to make special adjustments on your sewing machine.

Use a fine sewing machine needle—size 11 is preferred. Adjust the stitch regulator to make long stitches, about seven or eight to an inch. Use a loose tension. These precautions keep you from getting a row of big holes that would weaken the plastic and make it tear easily.

The pressure on the presser foot should be light enough to allow the material to feed through smoothly without leaving an imprint of the feed on the seam line. When the pressure is properly adjusted, the material will move through with little assistance, requiring no pulling or pushing. Be sure to sew slowly.

Plan Home Ec Program

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the theme for National Home Demonstration week; April 29 to May 5. Women who are active in the Lee county home economics extension program are being recognized for their leadership in improving homemaking.

Women in Lee county plan their own program under the guidance of University of Illinois nome economics extension specialists—state leaders and the county home adviser. And, because the women plan the program, they find that their individual or group problems and questions are answered during the year.

One of the subjects which was written into the programs for 94 counties during 1950 was home furnishings. Families wanted to learn how ot make the most of their furnishing's dollar, They studied refinishing furniture, slip covering, window treatment, flower arrangement, lighting, room arrangement and other subjects. Home advisers, local leaders and other specialists conducted 6,887 meetings which were attended by 48,778 homemakers.

Many other subjects are included in the county programs. Some of them are child development and family relations, foods and nutrition, textiles and clothing and home management, which included money management, time and motion studies and legal matter in addition to the study of equipment and its use.

Here a recipe for a new home prepared pudding and pie filling mix that you can make up easily; keep it available for busy day use. This mix was developed at Purdue university and from it dozens of things can be turned out.

Recipe: 1 C. cornstarch, 3 cups sugar, 2 teas. salt. Blend these dry ingredients thoroughly; store the mix in a covered container on a kitchen shelf until ready for use.

Pompadour Pudding

Use one-half C. mix, 3 cups scalded milk, 2 egg yolks, 1 teas. vanilla, 1½ sq. chocolate, 2 egg whites and 6 tablespoons sugar.

Follow directions of vanilla pudding. Cool. Melt chocolate, cool slightly. Beat egg whites until almost stiff, add sugar a tablespoon at a time and continue beating until mixture forms stiff peaks. Fold cooled melted chocolate into egg whites and sugar; serve on top of pudding. Makes 6 servings.

Cream Pie

Use two-thirds C. Mix, 2½ C. scalded milk, 3 egg yolks, 1 teas. vanilla—make as for pudding—use in a nine inch pie shell; use the three egg whites for meringue.

trial before a Hungarian court:

"I am sorry I did not perhaps live up to the American tradition under pressure."

He presumably was reffering to the confession he made before the Communist court sentenced him to 15 years imprisonment.

The International Telephone and Telegraph company executive made his comment when he walked into the garden of his home to pose for photographers with his family.

In a slow, halting voice, Vogeler told newsmen:

"During 17 months in prison I have been thinking about this reunion. Though I had no news during my imprisonment, I knew that I had many good friends and could count on the Americans."

Vogeler had obvious difficulty controlling his speech. His mouth twitched as if he were under a terrific nervous strain. Then he went on:

Says He's Sorry

"I am sorry I did not perhaps live up to the American tradition under pressure," his voice broke and he paused. A reporter asked him:

"But you are innocent, aren't you, Mr. Vogeler?"

Vogeler smiled wryly, and in obvious jest, said:

"Oh, no, I'm guilty, according to the Hungarians I am a combination of Dick Tracy and . . ."

He paused again, and one of his sons suggested: "J. Edgar Hoover."

"Yes, that's right," Vogeler said. "I would rather not say anything more now," Vogeler went on. "I am not concerned for my own safety, but I am anxious about . ."

Again his voice failed, but he presumably was referring to Edgar Sanders, British accountant sentenced to 13 years in jail at the same trial as Vogeler.

Cannot Talk Now

"I cannot collect my thoughts properly now," he went on, "but if I am able to give you all an interview, I will do so. I am not trying to be a prima donna, and I will let you know when I can."

Vogeler, showing the strain of being photographed, then turned and went back into his house.

SAY GOODBYE TO MACARTHUR—National guardsmen of the 109th AAA Brigade express their sentiments by means of this sign as the MacArthur cavalcade leaves Chicago for Milwaukee. Brig. Gen. For This Gent, Monday Will Be A Busy, Busy Day

GEORGE'S MILLS, N. H., (AP) —Clarence D. Collins, 79, has so much time on his hands it's going to take him all day to catch up with his daylight saving tomorrow.

A retired petticoat salesman, Collins lives in a rambling colonial farmhouse where it always sounds like the patter of rain on the roof.

Why?

Because he has over 400 clocks ticking and tocking under that roof.

And every single one of them will have to be set ahead one hour tomorrow.

For a half century Collins traveled throughout the eastern part of the country, collecting rare and unusual clocks.

Visitors passing through on the hour are buffeted by seas of sound as hundreds of clocks chime and strike together.

Gunfire Marks 27th Day of CIO Walkout

Non-Striking Workers Battle Picket Lines

WAKE FOREST, N. C., (AP)—Rifles, shotguns and pistols crackled in a raging battle here last night at the strike-crippled Royal cotton mill.

Three persons were slightly injured as gunfire exchanges followed a dynamite blast. Men on the picket lines said the dynamite was thrown from a mill window. Others said a man near the picket line tossed the explosive across a fence toward the mill. That burst set off the subsequent gunfire.

The violence, erupting on the 27th day of a seven-state strike of CIO Textile Workers in almost 50 southern mills, was the worst of several recent outbreaks. Several dynamitings have been reported at the Dan River Mills at Danville, Va. Others have been reported in North Carolina.

The strike began when management refused the TWUA's demands for a 13-cent increase to boost the minimum to $1.14½ hourly. The organized workers here walked out a week after the general strike of Textile Workers Nnion of America members.

Witnesses said between 200 and 600 shots were exchanged.

No law enforcement officers were on hand.

Earlier in the day police chief Lloyd Whitman had withdrawn his four patrolmen and four deputy sheriffs after pickets had halted a truck driver, jerked off his clothing, and cut the tires.

"I'm not going to have bloodshed over this thing," the chief said. "It's too big for my hands."

No Bids!

Now authorities are trying to find the owner.

Want Harry to Meet Joe in The Nude, Yet

NEW DELHI, India, (AP) — An Indian sect has suggested that President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin meet for peace talks —in the nude.

Shivan Chida Nand Gir, leader of 50,000 Naga (nude) sect monks and nuns, commented in an interview last night that such nude conferences generate an atmosphere of "I have nothing to hide from you." This, he said, is the basis for all good will among men.

Gir's sect is one of several participating in the Indian holy men's convention for peac now in its third day here.

Gir 50-year-old college graduate, said "Dress is the badge of lost innocence and its universal discarding helps to create international goodwill." His followers are ordained to be naked in thought, word and action as well as in physical appearance.

Gir and his followers were forbidden by New Delhi police to march in the nude in today's convention parade. Police also clamped down on the holy men's plans to use half-tamed elephants in the parade.

Gir has 22 years of nude experience. He is a college graduate, holder of a master of science degree, and was a commissioned officer in the British Indian army in World War I.

Electrified Air Tested For Cancer

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Two Florida scientists said today they are investigating the "possible use" of especially electrified air to try to retard or halt cancerous growths.

Doctors Boris Sokoloff and Walter H. Eddy of Florida southern college at Lakeland said the studies still are limited to rats and mice.

But they told the American Association for Cancer Research that malignant growth in these rodents is "considerably retarded and in some instances tends to disappear" when the creatures are kept in an atmosphere of "negatively ionized air."

(Ions are the electrical particles created in air when a neutral atom gains or loses electrons. When electrons are lost, the particle is positively electrified; when electrons are gained, the particle becomes a negative ion. Air can be ionized in either way by artificial means.)

The scientists said their studies indicated that cancerous tissue has a different electric charge from that of the surrounding normal tissue. And they declared that apparently these electric changes make the membrane of the cancer cell more permeable than a normal cell so that "feed stuffs enter the fast-growing cells faster than in normal cells."

Their concept is that exposure of a cancer sufferer to especially-electrified air might offset the abnormal electrical conditions within cancer cells and thus retard the growth of the malignancy and perhaps even halt it at some point.

Cars Collide

Autos driven by Howard W. Gerber, 37, of 1823 Fourth st., and James D. Wakeley, 707 Third st., collided at Galena avenue and second street at 1:15 a. m. Saturday, according to a police report.

Gerber was going south on Galena avenue and Wekeley was driving west on second street. Wakeley crashed into the car after failing to stop for a red light, according to the report.

LaSalle-Peru Winner of 2nd Sterling Relays

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH
Dixon, Illinois, Saturday, April 28, 1951 Page Seven

HUGH'S VIEWS of SPORTS
BY HUGH HOUGH

There's no substitute for winning. It's the grandest feeling in the world."

IT WAS EDDIE GEBHART, the Oregon track coach speaking, and he voiced the feeling that pervades the athletic setup in Oregon.

It isn't a bad philosophy if not carried to the extremes it reaches in some Illinois cities—and it isn't carried that far in Oregon.

OREGON HAS A YOUTHFUL quartet of coaches. They take their jobs seriously. They like to win, but they aren't fanatical about it. Guys like Gebhart and Homer Kuethe and Sam Zatkoff and John Nelson form a coaching staff schools much larger than Oregon might be proud to own.

This foursome shared honors at the annual athletic banquet in Oregon last night. Somehow, Oregon always seems to differ a bit from the other schools and cities. Usually the difference is all for the good. It was last night.

INSTEAD OF HIRING a high-priced speaker, Oregon let its coaches split the speaking honors four ways. And they put the $75 or $100 they would have spent for a "name" speaker back into the sock where it will be handy whenever it is needed.

The Girls' Athletic Association and the Pep Club of Oregon high school arranged the palatable eating part of the evening with the aid of their advisor, Mrs. Jackie Gambrel. Nadine Lippert and Carolyn Leigh shared the mistress of ceremonies role capably. The evening ended with a dance in the gym where the banquet was held.

NOTES FROM HERE AND THERE

Franklin Grove Coach Max Patrick has been on the ailing list during the past week with an attack of virus pneumonia. His track team and many friends hope he will be back in shape again soon.

* * * *

FRIDAY SHULTZ, our fellow columnist on The Telegraph sports page, came in for some well-deserved praise Wednesday night at the Thursday Night Men's league bowling banquet.

In a farewell speech, Les Brotherton termed Friday "the individual who has done more to stimulate bowling interest in Dixon than any other person."

LES LEAVES Dixon and the Lincoln Lanes at the conclusion of present season. He expects to head towards Wisconsin, another place where they take their bowling seriously.

* * * *

When Lon Scofield introduced letter-winner Phil Kernan at the Dixon awards ceremony on Wednesday, here is what he said:

"The next letter winner is Phil Kernan. Phil is just one year younger than I am."

Scofield will lose Kernan from his Duke basketball team next February when Phil reaches his 20th birthday. Scofield's age is unavailable.

* * * *

WHILE WE WERE enjoying the festivities in Oregon last night, [illegible]-staffer Bob Hulen traveled to Sterling to cover the Sterling Relays for Telegraph readers. He also supplied the following comments on that affair:

THE STERLING GOLDEN WARRIORS appear to be the team to beat in the Northwest Illinois area—as far as track goes. At the Sterling Relays last night, the host team appeared well-balanced in all departments. Outstanding performers on the Warrior squad include Galloway, a good pole-vaulter, and Kaiser, a boy who can heave a mighty discus.

Perhaps the best individual showing of the relays was given by Preiser of the LaSalle-Peru Cavaliers. He tossed the shot put 51 feet, 7¼ inches. This is quite a throw for a high school boy.

Austin Duke, all-state football and basketball player, performs like a champion in track as well. He appeared as if he could leap forever last night until the 5-foot, 10-inch mark tripped him up. He had to settle for one inch less. Still a good jump.

DIXON'S BILL LAFFERTY wasn't able to better his Sterling meet record in the broad jump of 21-feet, 5 inches, but he showed good springing power in a jump of 19 feet, 11¼ inches. By the end of the season he should be jumping much further. Bill also ran well as leadoff man of the 480-low-hurdle-shuttle-relay-team which took third in the event.

The biggest heartbreak of the meet came when Peugh of Sterling hit the last hurdle of the 480-low-hurdle-shuttle-relay and was unable to finish the race. At the time he was well ahead of the nearest man. Peugh skinned his legs and arms badly with the fall. The five points lost by this misfortune could have made a lot of difference.

The Morning After--

By "FRIDAY"

Although Millers Chryslers had first place cinched in the Major loop by four games with 57-39, the next three spots were juggled around last night with Rathskellers winning two to take second with 53-43; Town House winning three, good for third with 52-44, when McGrahams lost two to drop into fourth with 51-45. When Bank Examiner George Lamb gets home this weekend after spending a week checking over figures, we'll give you three guesses what he'll have to listen too. It's bound to be more figures, as his wife, Eleanor, will have him checking and rechecking her series of yesterday in the Lady Bugs league, 148-232-163, for 543, both the 232 and the 543 series new high records, and she probably is entitled to have a few hysterics over them. . . . The Johnson Motors had a 150 complex last night with Cy Winebrenner having 153, Eph Worton 159, Harry Cook 153 Harold Peach 150 and John Smith 156 . . . Gene Burroughs, our co-worker at The Telegraph and a member of the Cooks Flower Shop Classic loop team and Beiers Bakers in the Major league is leaving Dixon for a new position in Chicago, and although we hate to see him leave we wish him the best of luck in the Windy City . . . Don Wilhelm started out with a practice game of 96 in the City loop and then jumped 101 pins for a 197 second set M. Gonnerman spaced her sets five pins with 111-116-121 in the Church loop and Don Stauffer had an even 20 between his games of 124-144-164 . . . Something we've never noticed before, although it may have happened turned up at the Lanes in the match between St. Paul 4 and Bethel, when Wilbur Bollman of St. Paul 4 and J. Jeanquenot of Bethel, not only had the same series of 373 but their games also totaled alike with Bollman having 117-124-132 and Jeanquenot 124-117-132 . . . Elwin Giesaner spaced his sets 16 pins with 114-130-146 . . . To prove how thoughtful we are, we felt so bad about our Studebaker five nosing out Ken Detwellers Hey Bros., team that we never even mentioned Ken's last game of 101 for the Ice Cream boys.

HAPPY SURPRISE

BUCKY HARRIS

Marion, Harris Lead Surprise Baseball Clubs

(By the Associated Press)

The Washington Senators and St. Louis Cardinals are the real surprise clubs of the early 1951 season.

Bucky Harris' Senators were consigned to the second division in pre-season polls. The experts smiled politely when Manager Marty Marion and owner Fred Saigh talked about the "contending" Cardinals. Today both are in first place.

Senators Lead

Washington's dazzling spurt on sensational pitching shot the Senators to the front of the American league pack. Six of Bucky's eight starting pitchers went the route. One was lifted for a pinch hitter after eight innings. Gene Bearden, the only starter to be knocked out, was sold to Detroit.

"Go the route or get out" seems to be Bucky's new deal.

Sandy Consuegra, the second half of Bucky's rhumba twins did his stuff on the sorry Philadelphia A's last night, with a five-hit 6-1 job. Thursday night his countryman, Connie Marrero, stuffed a one-hitter down the A's throats.

Marion Gets Pitching

Marion's pitching has been even better than Washington's with five complete games and two shutouts in seven starts.

Gerry Staley shut out Chicago, 3-0, with six hits for his second route-going job against the Cubs. He has allowed only one run in 18 innings and the entire St. Louis staff has yielded only two runs in the last 37 inninngs.

The New York Giants continued to squirm under the load of their nine-game losing streak.

A couple of ex-Giants, Willard Marshall and Sid Gordon, made life miserable for Leo Durocher's Giants with home runs in Boston's 7-3 victory. Marshall's came in the sixth with two on to send Boston on top for keeps. Warren Spahn was the five-hit winner.

Hodges Hits

Gil Hodges continued his power hitting with two homers and a double in Brooklyn's 11-5 rout of the Phillies. Joe Hatten, although knocked out in the ninth, was the southpaw winer.

Ralph Kiner's first homer wasn't enough to save Pittsburgh as Cincinnati grabbed a 7-5 decision. Ewell Blackwell picked up his second win although he needed relief help from Howie Fox after six innings.

In the American league, all the Western teams were idle. The only action in addition to Washington-Philadelphia was the Boston Red Sox 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Mel Parnell became the first Boston pitcher to go the route, allowing nine hits including Joe DiMaggio's first homer. The Sox ripped into Vic Raschi, who shut them out opening day, for all their runs.

OBVIOUSLY IN PAIN

THE MIGHTY ATLAS, nee Maurice Shapiro, grimaces at the left as he applies a brutal hold to Walter Palmer in the windup event of the wrestling show in Sterling Thursday night. While Palmer is obviously suffering much pain in this picture, he was rewarded for his discomfort with the cheers of the audience, and more important to him, a large handful of money which some 2,500 fans paid to see these contortions.

HAWKS IN BANQUET DUDS

OREGON'S VARSITY BASKETBALL team members look sharp in basketball uniforms and just as sharp in their banquet duds. They were honored last night at the annual athletic banquet. Illini Trounce Hoosiers, 15-0, In Big 10 Play

CHICAGO, (AP) — Indiana dropped out of the Big Ten's group of unidentified baseball teams yesterday, bowing to Illinois at Champaign, 15-0.

The Hoosier loss left three teams undefeated in conference play: Illinois now has won three, as has Northwestern, and Ohio State has won two. Indiana has won and lost one.

Northwestern's third Big Ten victory came yesterday at Lafayette, Ind. The Wildcats shut out the Boilermakers, 6-0. In the only other conference game, Wisconsin, last year's co-champion with Michigan, beat Minnesota at Minneapolis, 7-4.

The scheduled game between Michigan and Iowa at Iowa City was postponed because of rain. Ohio State lost to Western Michigan, 3-2, in a non-conference contest. Michigan State was not scheduled.

PEP WINS EASILY

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Swift-punching Willie Pep, ex-featherweight champion, listed his 160th professional fight in the records today —a ten-round win over young Eddie Chavez. But in his own words, he isn't ready yet to try to regain the title he lost last fall.

Pep lost, regained and then dropped the title to Saddler. A fourth championship match between the two is expected to be signed for Yankee Stadium in New York this summer.

LaSalle-Peru overcame stiff opposition last night to win the second annual Sterling Relays from the host school by a 5½-point margin.

Three records, all set last year in the first running of the relays, were broken. Two other records from last year were tied.

The LaSalle-Peru mile-relay team clipped 10 seconds off the previous year's mark. Their time last night was 3:32. The winners also set a new record in the 480-low-hurdle - shuttle - relay. This didn't break the old record as the length of the race was changed from 432-yards to 480-yards.

In winning the relay meet, LaSalle-Peru's Cavaliers showed strength in all events. In only one event, the mile team race, did the LaSalle county team fail to place.

Sterling lost a chance to cop or gain a tie in the meet when Peugh, who was ahead of the pack in the 480-low-hurdle shuttle relay, hit the last hurdle and was unable to finish the race.

Peugh's arms and legs were injured in the fall.

Dixon's Dukes gained two third places in the relays, in the 480-low-hurdle-relay and in the mile team race. Wigginton of Dixon ran second in the mile race. He was two steps behind Johnson of Moline, who ran the four laps in 4:51.8.

The Cavaliers won the meet before the final event, the 880-relay, by taking the high jump. However, they were hard pressed in the high jump by Moline which gained second in that event.

Austin Duke, Moline, had the winning jump in that event, clearing the pole at 5-feet, 9-inches. He appeared as poised in that event as he did on the basketball floor during the finals of the Sweet Sixteen tournament at Champaign.

It Took Mankind Centuries to Learn to Eat, Now It Diets

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP) — The only thing in America today more boring than going on a diet is—to have to listen to someone else who is on a diet.

For 25,000 years it took all the courage, skill, and energy of mankind to get most people all the food they wanted to eat. But in the United States for the last 25 years more and more people have found it takes all their courage to keep from eating all they want. They should move to China or India—and get back to the first problem.

The worst assumption of professional dieters is that you naturally ought to do what they do—and that what is wrong with them is also wrong with you.

But dieters are a different race entirely. If they are overweight and you are pleasingly plump—well, if they decide to start counting their calories they'll hardly rest until you do, too.

Why?

I don't mind being pleasingly plump—pleasing to me, that is. I have been rib-thin. I've been overweight. I feel better and I like more people better when I have the extra weight. Lots of normal men who don't beat their wives or bite their children are like that.

Medical statistics show that lean people live longer on the average than do fat people. But I've known cheerful fat people who lived to a fine old age, and I've known grumpy thin people who died young.

You don't measure life by an undertaker's calendar. You measure it by what the years bring—not how many years you endure.

The important thing isn't whether you weigh more than some doctor or charm school expert thinks you should. It's why you weigh more. If the fat feels good, keep it. If it bothers you, ask why.

All people don't get barrel-shaped for the same reason. Many who go on diets today don't overeat because they're hungry. They stuff themselves because they are worried, insecure, mentally or physically lazy.

Motto for dieters:

"If you shirk life, you can't improve it just by shirking the table."

—The Centennial edition of The Evening Telegraph will weigh four pounds and will contain 270 pages, the largest single edition in midwest journalism history. Watch for it on May 1.

World's largest coal seam is located in Manchuria. Thickness of the seam varies from 20 to 425 feet.

Businessmen Go To Washington For 'Good' Look

KANKAKEE, (AP)—Kankakee businessmen have decided to go to Washington and see for themselves what congress is doing.

Thirty-five of them—automobile dealers, insurance men and small business owners—are flying from Chicago to Washington Sunday.

Monday they will meet with Senators Paul Douglas (D-Ill) and Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) at a luncheon. They will return home late Monday.

E. P. Bergeron, president of the Kankakee chamber of commerce, said, "As businessmen we want to know our congressmen better and also to really find out, first hand, what is happening in Washington."

Making Movie Love Boring, Really It Is

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 28—(AP)—The romantically minded may get a thrill out of movie love scenes, but all Linda Darnell gets is a yawn.

"It's a bore, really," she declared. "How can there be any thrill when there are 50 people watching you go into the clinch?"

Linda has been pitching movie woo for nearly half of her life and should be an expert. She states emphatically that it's no fun.

"You can't get a thrill when you're not in love with the person you're playing opposite," she explained. "And I've never been in They are usually negotiated with that condition."

As for script kisses: "Nothing!" the actress' lip caked with powder, so the lip goo won't come off on the leading man. "Nothing feels worse than having powder on your lips," Linda remarked. Lately she has been using a new substance that coats the lipstick like a shellac. Romantic? Not in the least.

Linda has gone in for all varieties of film love-making, but lately has been subjected to the more rugged style. She has recently costarred with Paul Douglas, Richard Widmark and Stephen McNally, who aren't exactly the handholding type.

"I like the more gentle kind of romance," she remarked. "I bruise easily." She exhibited some bruises that McNally had inflicted during "The Lady Pay Off," her current film.

"I'd rather go back to the Tyrone Power style," she sighted . . .

Speaking of television, I note that the industry's public relations spokesmen did a burn over the TV salute to D. W. Griffith. The telecast did what Hollywood has long neglected—it paid tribute to the famed movie maker for his trailblazing contributions to the industry.

The protest was an example of the film industry's increasing edginess about criticism from video.

Strongest rumor of the week is caused by the wholesale firings of staff members at Warner Brothers. An oldtimer recalls that the Warners also fired most of their staffs before converting to sound films. Is another conversion coming? To TV?

Government Ready ot Slash Meat Prices; Ceilings Will Be Set on Slaughter Cost

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The government raised its price cleaver today for a swing at the high cost of meat. Officials said a four to five cents a pound cut in beef prices to consumers is due by August with a similar slash to follow next fall.

Actual dollars-and-cents ceilings on beef prices will be announced tonight.

One official told a reporter the orders will provide for progressive rollbacks in the price of live cattle—a new method in food price control. These rollbacks are due in three stages.

The official said the first "sizeable reduction" will be ordered immediately. This will be accomplished by setting ceilings on that ammounts slaughterers may pay for cattle. It was understood that first cut would amount to five to 10 per cent.

Adjustments Next Month

An Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) expert said wholesale and retail prices will not be reduced on the first go-round but there may be some adjustments next month as a result of the live animal cuts.

Postponement of the first reductions at wholesale and retail levels will give feeders who fatten cattle for slaughter a chance to clear their pens of animals for which they have paid high prices, an official explained. Otherwise, he said, the feeders would face heavy and perhaps ruinous losses.

The first across-the-board in wholesale, retail and live cattle prices is due in mid-summer, probably around August, an official said. The second across-the-board cut is set in the orders for next fall, he added.

To Public Tonight

Assistant OPS Director Edward F. Phelps called a news conference today (10 a. m., CST) to outline the orders to newsmen. They will be made public tonight. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle is out of the city filling speaking engagements.

It was learned a two-week delay in issuance of the beef price orders stemmed from a dispute between DiSalle and Department of Agriculture officials over the proposal to cut live cattle prices. It was known that DiSalle had been holding out determinedly for such cuts.

Agriculture officials were reported objecting on the ground that cutting cattle prices might discourage production. Livestock breeders from the west had vigorously protested the planned cuts.

Seek Wage Hike

In the meantime, Joseph M. Jacobs, Chicago attorney for the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, wired Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, urging immediate approval of an 11-cent hourly wage boost in the meat industry.

Johnston had turned down the wage agreement between two unions and three large packing firms because the pay raise would exceed that allowable under the wage control policy. That limits wage boosts to 10 per cent over January, 1950, levels.

Jacobs said Johnston should approve the agreement to be consistent with his approval of a six-cent hourly raise for non-operating rail workers.

Would Void Pact

A condition of the agreement with the packers would void the pact if governmental approval is not obtained by May 5. The 120,000, CIO workers affected have threatened to strike if the contract is not approved. The AFL union, representing another 105,000 workers, has not announced its plans.

In other price-wage developments:

1. The Labor department reported that price rises in food and farm products pushed up the government's wholesale price index by 0.3 per cent during the week ended last Tuesday.

2. The Department of Agriculture said the general level of farm prices dropped about two-thirds of one per cent from mid-March to mid-April. However, an official pointed out that this decline occurred before the period covered in the Labor department's latest wholesale price index.

First Court Action

3. Edward P. Morgan, OPS enforcement director, announced the first big batch of court actions in holding the price line will be taken next week in Washington, Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Springfield, Mass., and other eastern cities. Morgan said one prosecution is in the list. Others involve damage suits against alleged violators and petitions for court orders to bar continuance of practices against price orders.

4. Slaughter quotas for all species of livestock were announced for May, to be effective April 29. OPS, said the quotas are designed to insure normal and orderly distribution of meat to consumers and to preevnt black marketing.

Set Quotas

The quotas provide for slaughter within the accounting period beginning April 29 of these percentages of live animals killed in the corresponding period a year ago: 90 per cent of the cattle live weight; 80 per cent of the calves, sheep and lambs live weight; and 110 per cent of the hogs.

The quotas apply to more than 11,000 slaughterers registered with OPS. Only registered slaughterers, except farm slaughterers, may kill livestock for meat.

Public Aid Heads Resist Inquiries Into Relief Frauds

CHICAGO, (AP)—A former employe of the Illinois Public Aid commission says the IPAC district supervisors "resisted" investigations of fraud in relief cases.

Floyd E. Gaston, who resigned several weeks ago as commission collection department manager, testified yesterday before a state legislative committee investigating the IPAC.

Gaston said the supervisors felt the county should investigate the fraud cases.

"We investigated cases where aid had been cancelled," he said. "It seemed that when we got to the point of finding out anything, the aid recipient was back reapplying for aid. The district office would want the record and we would have to send it back."

This procedure caused confusion and delayed action, he said.

The hearing was held at the State of Illinois building in Chicago.

Rep. Paul Randolph (R-Chicago), committee chairman, said another hearing would be held next Friday, and one would be held in Peoria, May 11.

The committe must report its findings to the legislature by May 15.

Mt. Morris High Students At Convention

MT. MORIS—Three high school students represented the student council at the state student council convention April 20 and 21, at the Congress hotel, Chicago.

Officers Barbara Dumont, president; Janette Knodle, senior representavie; and Bill Egan, vice president, attended the meetings accompanied by H. A. Hoff.

The student council will sponsor the 13th Big Brother and Sister day Thursday, May 3, from 12:20 p.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Junior students will act as big brothers and sisters for the eighth grade pupils in the high school district and the non-high school area. The eighth graders will have a chance to visit classes and register for courses for next fall.

—Dixon's history will be told in the record-breaking 270-page Centennial edition of The Telegraph to be published May 1.

Local Insurance Men Hear Speech

Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon spoke to members of the Illinois Association of Life Insurance Underwriters in Springfield Wednesday at a dinner honoring members of the state legislature.

Local underwriters who attended the meeting were Virgil Gower and Bernard Frazer, president membership chairman of the Rock River Underwriters association.

The Rock River association held a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Nachusa house. Appointed to the nominating committee were B. L. Frazer, Dixon; F. E. Duffy, Amboy, and Albert Stoltz, A. D. Reider and Earl Helms, Sterling.

Tax Office To Be Closed Here

The Dixon office of the collector of internal revenue will be closed from April 27 to May 14 while Deputy W. P. Warner and his wife are on a vacation. If necessary to contact a deputy in the meantime phone Rock Island 8-5601.

Diamond engagement rings were used in the Middle Ages.
